Korean Situation May Prevent Action On Bayou Caddy Project, Says Colmer

Congressman William M. Colmer stated last week that although the President had requested that no Public Works Programs be initiated which are not in the interest of the people of this section, the House Public Works Committee would be submitting the Bayou Caddy project to the House Public Works Committee for their study.

In a letter to those who forwarded telegrams urging Mr. Colmer to request the House Public Works Committee to study this matter, Mr. Colmer stated: "I am glad to know of your interest and want to assure you of my interest too. As a matter of fact, my interest dates back some twelve or thirteen years. To be exact, I secured an authorization for a survey of the project in 1938. The Army Engineers made the survey but unfortunately held that there was not sufficient commercial use of the Bayou to justify the cost of the proposed improvements. If there has been some change in the situation since then and someone down there will send me data to justify undertaking the project at present, I shall be delighted to request the House Public Works Committee of the House to pass a resolution calling for a review of the proposal."

"However, in fairness and in order that you may understand just what I stated last week that although the President had requested that no Public Works Programs be initiated which are not in the interest of the people of this section, the House Public Works Committee would be submitting the Bayou Caddy project to the House Public Works Committee for their study."

"I think I should also point out that if the Public Works Committee authorizes the survey and if the District Engineer should recommend the adoption of the project it would be necessary to get the project in the next Public Works Bill, and this would require considerable time."

"Then, too, I think you should know that the Public Works Programs be initiated which are not in the interest of the people of this section, the House Public Works Committee would be submitting the Bayou Caddy project to the House Public Works Committee for their study."

"Nevertheless, I want you to know that I appreciate the need of industry in your County and I want you to know, further, that you will find me willing at all times to cooperate."

"I sent Mayor Carver the necessary form to get the project in the next Public Works Bill, and this would require considerable time."

"The necessary form referred to by Mr. Colmer was completed and sent to Washington by Mayor Warren Carver on Monday, July 24."

Washington, D.C.—The Defense Department is expected to announce very soon a plan for the deferment of military service of men in critical jobs and industries. The deferment rules would apply both to draftees and reservists.

Government sources said the commerce department will release a list of essential industries as a guide, and the labor department will issue a rather short list of "critical occupations."

The military establishment, it was reported, will emphasize that the lists are not guarantees of exemption from military service.

It will state, however, that armed forces intend to use men at their highest skills, whether in military or essential civilian roles, and to prevent any serious manpower drain on vital industrial crafts.

Governor Fielding Wright Urges Better Defense Against Major Disasters For Public Protection

Jackson, Miss.—Governor Fielding L. Wright, in a keynote address July 31, at a state-wide disaster preparedness meeting held at the Heidelberg Hotel, urged public officials, civic leaders, and Red Cross chapter representatives attending to build better defenses back home against the ravages of major disasters, both natural and man-caused.

He called upon them to save lives, reduce injuries and property losses through understanding of their respective duties and by better coordination of the emergency operations of all agencies having responsibility in time of disaster. He emphasized the need for specific plans of operation to be drawn up for every community, taking into account all the principal types of major catastrophes which may hit the community.

The Governor revealed that within the past 10 years tornadoes have hit 52 of Mississippi's 86 counties, floods have swept through 18, hurricanes raged through 10, and major fire disasters have occurred in 10 counties, leaving death, injuries, and heavy property destruction in their wake.

"We must recognize that no state or community is immune from major catastrophes. There is only one course to take which will fortify our communities against the time when disaster strikes. That is disaster preparedness planning. Disaster is a community problem. As citizens of a community, all of us are involved in helping to meet and overcome disaster-created emergencies."

He pointed out that governmental units and the American Red Cross have separate and distinct responsibilities in time of disaster operations but need to work in close harmony for greater efficiency.

"You, as public officials, should arrange for conferences with your local Red Cross chapters to discuss the operational plans of each and should have working understandings."

The Governor called for a local community preparedness organization to be worked out in conjunction with a state disaster plan, which since 1947 has been used for coordination of relief operation of relief operations of all Mississippi state departments and the American National Red Cross.

The one-day disaster meeting, sponsored jointly by Governor Wright and the American Red Cross, included a number of speakers and panel discussion leaders experienced in direction of some of Mississippi's and the nation's biggest disaster operations in recent years.

Municipal governmental responsibility in time of disaster was discussed by Biloxi's Mayor G. B. Cousins; county responsibility, by Howard Cameron of Meridian, chancery clerk of Lauderdale County; and state governmental responsibility, by Brig. Gen. B. E. McDermann of Cleveland, who is coordinator for all state departments in disaster activities.

The Red Cross job in the emergency days of the disaster was discussed by E. C. Bryant of Atlanta, director of Disaster Service in the Red Cross of Southeastern Area. DeWitt Smith of Washington, D. C., National Red Cross vice president for Social Welfare Services, discussed the organization's responsibilities during the long-term program of rehabilitation of individual families following the emergency phase of the operation.

The disaster meeting also included a panel discussion on civil defense planning led by Laurell's Mayor Carroll Gartin and by Robert C. Lewis of Atlanta, deputy manager of the Red Cross Southeastern Area.

R. L. Stainton, chairman of the Hinds County Red Cross Chapter, presided at the meeting. Jackson's Mayor Allen C. Thompson introduced Governor Wright.

QUADRUPLTS BORN TO NEGRO COUPLE AT PASS CHRISTIAN

Four Boys In Good Health At Memorial Hospital In Gulfport

Pass Christian reported the first set of quadruplets in its history Tuesday afternoon. Four colored infants entered the world in succession at 11:45 a.m., 11:45 a.m., 1:16 p.m. and 1:30 p.m. Their parents are Saniel Martin, 36, and Gertrude Martin, 32.

The quadruplets, all boys, were born at home, 512 Clarence Avenue, Pass Christian. Apparently in good health, they were delivered by Dr. C. D. Taylor, Jr., Pass Christian and Louise Alexander, a midwife.

Dr. Taylor said this was his first delivery of quadruplets. According to available current statistics, the incident is not likely to happen again in the United States for another 602,708 births.

The couple is already the parents of six children, ranging in age from one to ten years. Saniel, the father, is a native of Sunnyside, Ala. The father has been employed for twenty years as yard man at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Schmidt, West Beach, Pass Christian.

Upon their arrival, the quads were carried immediately to Gulfport Memorial Hospital for medical attention. They came to the hospital in a car driven by the father. The father worked feverishly to keep the babies warm.

It was reported that the smallest of the four boys nudged the scales at two pounds, six ounces. The others weighed three pounds; three pounds, eight ounces; three pounds, nine ounces; and three pounds, nine ounces.

The hospital reported the quadruplets in good condition and reacting normally toward their new world. Medical workers assisting and visiting the new "ward Q" reported "four cute little tykes."

Papa Martin, in a bewildered voice, found time to issue his own statement in hour after the arrival: "I'm very happy," he said, quickly adding, "right now."

The dramatic arrival of four babies in one was faced with a serious situation at Memorial Hospital and the Pass Christian health department. They had to find a way to handle four babies in one room. CIVILIAN DEFENSE RAPIDLY BEING SET UP IN STATE

Jackson—Programs of civilian defense to be placed in operation in any type of emergency—war or otherwise—are rapidly being developed in Mississippi.

Speaking before the state disaster preparedness meeting, Mayor Carroll Gartin of Laurel reported that all but three of the state's cities of 10,000 or more population had begun organization of local civilian defense groups.

Action by the municipalities follows the establishment June 26 by Gov. Fielding Wright of a state defense council. At this time the governor called for the setting up of similar councils by municipalities and counties.

Stating that he was sure that the civilian defense program would proceed at a greatly accelerated speed, Gartin said:

"We are interested in the question of civilian defense today because our nation is in one of its most trying periods."

"We must be prepared with a plan and persons in case of an emergency natural or wartime."

MILITARY IMPORTANCE WILL AFFECT HIGHWAYS

Place Two-Year Program in Two Categories

Jackson, Miss.—Mississippi's proposed $13,000,000 state highway program for the next two years was ordered by the public roads administration to be screened on the basis of military importance.

T. C. Robbins, state highway director, said that the order, issued from the United States department of commerce calls for classification of the program into two categories.

The first group, he said, must include all roads which the state department believes will contribute to defense or to civilian requirements essential in the changed international situation. The second group will include all other highways.

The Mississippi department has outlined to the public roads department a program which calls for use of $6,500,000 in available federal funds, to be matched with an equal amount of state funds.

Robbins said that "we are not sure what this federal order will mean... whether or not the federal roads bureau plans to close down on highway construction on the same basis as it did during the peak of World War II."

PRELIMINARY PROCEDURE

He said, however, that the classification of highways on the basis of defense of military and defense of needs was above the level of the land that supports it.

FOOD SUPPLY

Declaring that there is no need for frantic buying or hoarding the Agricultural Department says that the country's food supplies are better off than ever, so far as food is concerned, than it was before Pearl Harbor. The farm economy is declared sounder and better able to adjust itself to any crop changes that might be demanded. Officials declared that markets "could stand some pretty strenuous buying" by the military and civilians would be severely affected only in a nutrition standpoint. The price of all foods is up 21 per cent in 1941.

The 48 States are receiving bells presented by direction of the Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder.

Jackson Hattisburg Hixson and Gulfport have already approved the tax levy for their cities.

1950 SUPPORT PROGRAM
GUARANTEES COTTON
GROWERS FAIR PRICE
FOR SEED

Washington, July 11—Details of a 1950 cottonseed support program guaranteeing the farmer a price below which he will not have to sell his seed were outlined here in a meeting in the office of Senator John C. Stennis.

The simple plan calls for a promise to the Community Credit Corporation by growers that they will pay to farmers the guaranteed cottonseed support price. In turn, the Government will pay the growers a reasonable handling charge.

With agreement reached on the handling of the program, there now remains as the final step the fixing of a level of support. President Ralph S. Trigg of the Commodity Credit Corporation said he expects the price to be guaranteed the farmers to be decided upon and announced "in about ten days."

The meeting in the office of the Mississippi Senator climaxed more than a year's work by the special joint Senate-House Committee headed by Senator Stennis, in cooperation with officials of the Commodity Credit Corporation.

Senator Stennis and other members of the committee expressed general satisfaction with the new program as outlined by Mr. Trigg. The absence of red tape and storage problems as burdens on the farmer was believed to be an outstanding improvement in the 1950 plan.

The program this year will have the advantage of having become effective prior to the movement of any seed to market. Last year the program was late getting under way and was subject to changes. This resulted in many farmers accepting less than the guaranteed price.

Senator Stennis does not believe this situation will prevail this year. He said of the program:

"There will be no complicated contracts to the plan but in essence the grower who pays the support price to the producer will have a guarantee by the Commodity Credit Corporation to take the seed off the hands of the grower at a certain margin of profit for the handling thereof. This means that if the seed does not move on to the regular processors, the Commodity Credit Corporation will buy it and have the products thereof as the market will absorb them. Of course, if the millers or processors pay the growers the support price plus the reasonable handling charges for the growers, the seed will move altogether in regular trade channels without the Commodity Credit Corporation's intervention at all."

FOREIGN TRADE

In the first third of 1950, exports from this country totaled $2,195,100,000 equivalent to an annual rate of 9,585,300,000, compared with a $12,000,000,000 actual total for 1949 and official expectations of $10,000,000,000 to $10,500,000,000 this year. Imports for the same four months, however, totaled $2,470,000,000 against $2,323,700,000 for the corresponding period of 1949.

'FORGOTTEN WOMEN' AT
HI-WAY DRIVE-IN NEXT
WEDNESDAY, AUG. 9

"Forgotten Women," which opens next Wednesday at the Hi-Way Drive-In Theatre, is a strong indictment against women who try to escape from domestic troubles by finding refuge in drink.

This drama is a tightly knit story rich in melodrama and fine performance by an unusually competent cast.

Elyse Knox, Edward Norris, Robert Shayne, Theodore Lynch and Veda Ann Borg, as the film's costars deliver realistic portrayals in a group of important roles Misses Knox, Lynch, and Noel Neill are seen as habitués of a bar, where they try to forget their domestic troubles. Miss Knox is getting a divorce, while Miss Lynch is unhappy because her husband won't let her pursue a vocal career. Veda Ann Borg is also separated from her husband, while Noel Neill has little luck with her boy friends. In a vile mood Miss Lynch one day leaves the bar, and while driving kills a pedestrian. Her husband, Robert Shayne, an attorney, successfully defends her, though he believes her guilty. This leads to a divorce trial, with their son's custody in question. Meanwhile Elyse Knox meets Edward Norris at the bar and a romantic friendship follows, while Veda Ann Borg and her husband Bill Kennedy have a reunion. The climax brings surprise and happiness to the troubled couples.

Elyse Knox is fine as a girl who tries to forget her husband by drinking and Edward Norris is excellent as a playboy. Robert Shayne is convincing as the attorney husband and Veda Ann Borg excels in her part. Theodora Lynch, who makes her debut in films, will thrill you with her operatic voice screenplay from a story by Jeffrey Ber-

Paul Frison, Tim Ryan, Bill Kennedy, and Warren Douglas are all good. Producer Jeffrey Bernard comes through with another fine "exploitation" film in "Forgotten Women," and William Beaudine's direction maintains a smooth pace. Scott Darling wrote the screenplay from a story by Jeffrey Bernerd. Edward Kay was the musical director.

May Issue Another Call For Draftees By End Of Year

Washington.—The Army, already slated to get 1,000 draftees by October 30, may follow up with at least one more draft call before the end of the year to boost its strength near the 800,000-man mark.

While the Air Force and the Navy are waiting to see if volunteers will fill their combined 340,000-man quota, the Army made clear that it is relying heavily on the selective service act to meet its manpower needs.

It boosted its September draft call from 20,000 to 50,000 and said it would call up another 50,000 men in October. Even this increased total would fall short of bringing the ground forces to their 800,000-man goal. Army manpower on June 30—the last date for which figures will be released was about 591,000.

In addition to the Army, the United States is building as swiftly as possible toward an Air Force of 548,000 and a Navy of 579,000—for a total military strength of 1,927,000 within the next few months. By next June this is expected to climb to 2,300,000.

In a move to stabilize the military force, President Truman signed an executive order extending for 12 months all enlistments in the armed services. This affects nearly 300,000 enlistments due to expire before June 30, 1951.

Of this number 44,000 are in the Pacific theatre.

In a comparison move, the Army extended by six months—effective Aug. 31—the tour of duty of all personnel in foreign service, except for the Far East Command, where officers and men will be held "as long as may be necessary."

An officer in Germany, commenting on the move, said: "We simply have to keep what men we've got here. It just boils down to keeping our forces in Europe on hand."

And as US military forces announced plans for rapid expansion, a seven-member Senate watchdog committee

There's no short cut or easy way to do a soil conservation job. Only a complete farm soil and water conservation program will do the job. The SCS points out.

promised it will see that a "thorough job" is done on the home front.

Chairman Lyndon C. Johnson (D-Tex.) said, however, that the committee will keep hands off strategy and will try to limit the appearances before congressional committees of busy military men and other officials.

FAMILY ALLOWANCES
Congress moved meanwhile to restore family allowances for enlisted personnel of the Army, Navy, Marines, Air Force and Coast Guard.

Identical bills were introduced in House and Senate by the chairmen of the armed services committees, at the request of the defense department to replace the existing law under which allowances set up during the last war are being dropped.

A total of $75 monthly would be paid to a wife, husband or dependent parent with the GI chipping in $30 of that amount. For two dependent parents the sum would be $90. For each child the allowance would be $25, unless the enlisted person were the only parent, in which case $60 would be allowed.

Both government payments and deductions from the servicemen's pay would be increased in comparison to World War II. In the last war, a serviceman's wife got $50 of which he paid $22.

"THE BIG HANGOVER" AT STAR THEATRE NEXT THURS. & FRI., AUG. 10-11

Stars Romance and Novelty all add up to laughs in MGM's "The Big Hangover" which comes to the Star Theatre screen Thurs and Fri. Aug. 10-11 as the biggest laugh hangover of the year.

The stars are Van Johnson as a boy with ideals and Elizabeth Taylor as the boss's daughter, with ideas of love. The romance starts when the ideals and ideas get together. The novelty is Tramp a dog who talks.

"The Big Hangover" is a triple threat job on the part of Norman Krasna, who wrote it, directed it and produced it. It is the new prize winner by the brilliant writer of such stage hits as "Dear Ruth" and "John Loves Mary" and such screen successes as "The Devil and Miss Jones," "Fury" and the Academy Award-winning "Princess O'Rourke."

The role of the idealistic honest student with an allergy to alcohol is even funnier than Van Johnson's happy-go-lucky GI in "Battleground" and comes on top of such of his other hits as "In the Good Old Summertime," "Mother Was a Freshman" and "State of the Union."

Lovely Elizabeth Taylor comes to the new picture following her scoring work in "A Date With Judy," "Julia Misbehaves" and "Conspirator." Heading the supporting cast are Leon Ames, Fay Holden, Percy Waram, Selma Royle, Gene Lockhart and Edgar Buchanan. And right alongside is Tramp, a wonderful talking dog Tramp earned his screen experience via the extra role, playing sound fiddle to Daisy and other famous film pups. In "The Big Hangover" he comes into his own with a role second only to the two stars.

To begin with, we had something over 500 million acres of tillable land in the United States. More than half of our farm land has been damaged by erosion.

RESEARCH GIVES MILK NEW FOOD VALUE

New knowledge of nutrition is giving added value to milk as the outstanding low cost "best food buy" for consumers.

Dr. Charles Glen King, scientific director of the Nutrition Foundation and noted authority, recently declared:

"There is complete agreement that improvements in the sanitary and nutritive quality of cow's milk constitutes one of the greatest advances made in protecting child health. Those who have been thinking of milk supply as fat, sugar, protein and ash will be surprised to find a carefully documented list of 274 individual nutrients."

NEW NUTRIENTS
Among the newer nutrients named in milk, he said, are the following: Inositol, B-6, Biotin, B-12, all of which are presumably important to the protection of human health.

The Research and Development Laboratory of the US Quartermaster General in a new report states:

"The excellent nutritional value of milk is well known. Milk itself is one of the few foods which can be consumed daily without becoming monotonous. Milk fat is 99 percent digestible."

Dr. Clive McCay, of Cornell University reports new findings which prove the "drink milk and live longer" theory. His studies of white rats indicate that added milk in the diet prolonged life equal to 80 years in men and 92 in females.

ADULTS LAGGING
Dr. Pauline Beery Mack, Director of the Ellen H. Richards Institute, at Pennsylvania State College, says "Results of a 15-year study show that adults fail to consume adequate milk for physical well-being," and recommends six quarts of milk a week.

Dr. Hazel K. Stiebeling, chief, Bureau of Human Nutrition and Home Economics, US Department of Agriculture, declares that new research is and has already disproved the one that drinking a glass of milk an hour before eating will take a child's appetite.

IMPORT CONTROLS
The Agriculture Department has announced continued controls on imports of fats, vegetable oils, rice and rice support programs.

COTTON ACREAGE
Cotton acreage is 313 per cent less this year than the 27,719,000 acres of a year ago, according to the Agriculture Department. A total of 19,432,000 acres of cotton were in cultivation on July 1. No forecast of production was given.

It is estimated that at least two billion dollars worth of soil fertility are lost annually.

"SCARE BUYING" MAKES FOR SCARCE BUYING; POINTS OUT FOLLY OF U.S. HOARDING RUSH

Washington.—If you saw a man throwing his money away on a street corner, you'd think he ought to get his head examined.

But something like that is happening now.

Reports of heavy buying and price-boosting around the country are multiplying.

Some shoppers are trying to lay in supplies of tires, coffee, clothing and other things.

They're afraid rationing is coming and they want to be sure they get theirs, no matter what happens to the country or anybody else.

By making things scarcer, they give certain unscrupulous and shortsighted businessmen an excuse for jacking up prices.

The hoarders, President Truman said, are foolish. And he said some of the businessmen are kicking up prices to profiteer.

Both words—foolish and profiteer—were mild ones. And it's easy to see why.

Russian Communism means government control and ownership of almost everything. British Socialism means government control and ownership. British Socialism's controls are much milder than Communism's.

But this country, meaning the people, has denounced Communism and feels so strongly against it that now we are actively fighting it. And there is strong feeling here against Britain's Socialism.

In short, the traditions in this country has been against government control, interference or ownership. And we shout to the world the wonders of free enterprise.

Yet, widespread hoarding and soaring prices in this present situation will in time certainly do two things:

1. Force the government to step in and slap on rationing and price controls, make the dollar worth just that much less, thus damaging the foundations of the free enterprise economy.

(The rationing, of course, would be imposed to give everyone a fair share of what can be bought; the price controls would be slapped on to keep the economy from being ruined altogether.)

If we get into a war with Russia or the present situation gets very bad, the government will have to step in with controls anyway because then there will be scarcities due to war production.

But at this moment it isn't clear that we'll go to war with Russia or that the government, unless things get worse, will have to step in with controls.

Even if things don't get worse abroad, at home here the hoarders and profiteers, by their reckless performance now, could create a situation of scarcity and too-high prices. Then the government would have to step in.

So the hoarders and profiteers are like the man on the street corner throwing away his money. They stand at this moment in the midst of a fairly sound economy, the kind they undoubtedly want to preserve.

It's the kind of economy which has given:

1. The hoarders so much money that they can afford to buy more than they need, out of their own selfishness.

2. The profiteers so much free enterprise that, not satisfied to sell at a fair profit, they can sell at an unfair profit.

But by their hoarding and profiteering they are endangering the safety of economy.

And, since they're part of that economy, they're endangering their own welfare and future prosperity. The man on the street corner isn't doing worse.

PRINTING A NEWSPAPER
THESE DAYS . . .
IS A LOT MORE COMPLICATED

. . . and it requires highly skilled operators

Yes, printing has certainly progressed from the days when Ben Franklin painstakingly set up print by hand for his small press! It's a big business now and it takes the most modern equipment and competent operators to serve you—but the historic spirit of truth for the people still prevails.

Senator Stennis Supports Amendment Warning UN Members

Washington. Members of the United Nations were put on notice by the Senate this week, in an amendment supported by Senator Stennis, that their continued participation in Marshall Plan aid may depend upon the support they gave in the Korean war.

The amendment introduced by Senator McClellan of Arkansas, provides that no part of Marshall Plan recovery funds "shall be used to provide assistance to any participating country which in the opinion of the President has failed, refused, or neglected to support the United Nations in the Korean war by supplying armed personnel, materials of war, or services."

Pointing to the failure of members of the United Nations to come to the strong support of the United States, Senator Stennis described this "as the test." He said, "We have put it up to them. If they mean business, now is the time for them to come over where the battle is. The bugle has sounded, we need men to come and fight."

This was the second time in the last ten days that the Mississippi senator has pointed to the fact that only American infantrymen are fighting the Reds in Korea. Small token naval and air forces of several other nations have been sent into the battle.

Senator Stennis believes that the only hope remaining for peace is thru an all-out show of strength by the United States and other members of the United Nations.
